

It started with the first orientation email with those emojis at the bottom with the pear and the eyes for site. I didn't find that out, but from what I hear, if you type that into the orientation site, you got to a page where Ana was posting transcripts of Bara's disciplinary hearing. She posted a new one every 11 days. After 5 of those, people found her email, and emailed her, and she sent them the 6th and a link to discord where people activated some bots. Well, I got involved when people posted on facebook that they needed more people to figure this out and I saw that post. At first, I was kind of freaked out about it, I was like what is this, why are there a bunch of red monks everywhere? What's going on, there's this creepy secret society, is this like a cult? But then I started looking at the puzzles, and I wasn't doing anything with my summer, and I'd be totally down to join this thing and solve all these puzzles and crack all these codes. So then i got onto the groupme and joined the discord. And I started working on the puzzles, I think my first puzzle was the music cipher. It kind of drove me crazy for a while, it took so long to crack that one, but it was really fun to try these things out and be part of a group of people I was going to meet in the fall.
